Videoconferencing for Climate Practice

In order to reduce the impact of academic travel on the climate, the Department of Law, Societies & Justice has adopted the Videoconferencing for Climate Practice. The use of videoconferencing for academic conferences and meetings will not only reduce greenhouse gas emissions, but will also expand the ability of people who face legal or other barriers to travel to participate. Click here for more information about the Practice.

Department of Law, Societies & Justice
University of Washington
Smith M253,
Box 353565
Seattle, WA 98195

Phone: (206) 543-2396
Fax: (206) 685-5186
lsjadv@uw.edu

Source URL: https://lsj.washington.edu/videoconferencing-climate-practice